Join pOpera — Co-Create an Opera for Everyone

No experience needed. All languages, all backgrounds, all voices welcome.

Have you ever dreamed of being part of an opera — even if you've never sung before? pOpera, a unique project by Fondation EME and Paulo Lameiro, invites you to help create and perform an opera alongside professional artists and people from all walks of life.

Over three years, pOpera is bringing together more than 100 people from Luxembourg's diverse communities — newcomers and locals, young and old, professionals and first-timers — to share stories, learn from one another, and create something extraordinary together.

The journey will culminate in a grand performance at the Philharmonie's Grand Auditorium on April 23, 2026.

Everyone Has a Place on Stage

You don't need to be a trained musician to join. You just need curiosity and the desire to connect through music.

Workshops are warm, inclusive, and multilingual — a space to meet new people, sing, act, move, or help behind the scenes. Whether you want to perform or contribute backstage, there's a role for you.

As artistic director Paulo Lameiro says:

“We don't create something for a community — we create something with it. Everyone is at the same level, and everyone has a voice.”

Music That Builds Community

For Chloé Tournikian of Fondation EME, pOpera embodies the foundation's mission:

“Music has the power to break down barriers. It connects people who don't share the same language or culture. In pOpera, we see friendships form, confidence grow, and communities come alive.”

Be Part of It

Workshops restart in October 2025, and new participants are warmly welcome.

No auditions. No experience required. Just bring yourself, your story, and your voice.
